Struggling to connect with your partner?
Feeling like you're growing distant from your loved one?
Falling out of touch with your significant other and not connecting sexually?

We're here to help you solve these discomforts

There are 3 stimulating conditions that are needed for an erection to occur

- Perception and processing of visual images, sounds, smells, touches, and thoughts by the brain
- Transfer of impulses by the nervous system from the brain to the body
- Increased blood flow to the penis

A healthy sexual response depends on:

- Psychological readiness for sex
- Sufficient blood flow required to achieve an erection: the release of nitric oxide (NO), relaxation of the cavernous body muscles, and penis blood flow increase

There are several signs that can help determine if a male has a low libido

- erectile dysfunction
- infertility
- rapid hair loss
- reduced muscle mass
- increased body fat
- brain fog

Low libido is a big issue and not just for older males, you can start facing it in as early as your 30s

About 50% of men between 40 and 70 worry about having a low libido. Studies show that 1 in every 4 men that visit a doctor for erectile dysfunction are under the age of 40.

Most of these men had previous history of:

Depression, stress and fatigue

Smoking cigarette

Using illicit drugs

Consuming large amounts of alcohol

Niacin can help combat decreased libido related to stress and anxiety

VITAMIN B3 (niacin):

- Maintains nervous system health and psychological functions
- Helps improve blood circulation
- Supports dilated blood vessels (making sexual arousal easier)

L-arginine helps increase blood flow and stimulate your sexual desires

L-arginine is an essential amino acid that works to:

- Support normal levels of Nitric Oxide in the body for better blood flow giving a stronger erection
- Clinically proven as a precursor of NO with significant effects on endothelial NO improvement

Rosa Damascena Oil will bring down anxiety and stress levels from everyday challenges

In the old days, the rose fragrance was considered the most potent aphrodisiac, enhancing sexual activity.

Rose oil is obtained from rose petals by steam distillation to help:

- Setup that romantic vibe
- Increase your Libido/Sexual urges
- Get that confidence boost you were looking for

Libidextra is the solution for every lifestyle

Doesn't matter who you are or where you come from, Libidextra was made for men dealing with an unbalanced libido, ranging from:

- Stressful work schedules and hectic jobs
- Couples facing intimacy issues
- Men looking to improve their overall health

Libidextra is made for every man looking to improve their sexual experience
